For Immediate Release:

Graham-Field Introduces the Bariatric Transport Chair by Everest & Jennings®

February 1, 2006 • Atlanta, GA:

Graham-Field Health Products is pleased to announce the addition of the Everest & Jennings® Bariatric Transport Chair, shown at right, to its transport chair fleet. The new bariatric transport chair, with a maximum weight capacity of 400 lbs., weighs only 33 lbs. It features steel frame construction; airless tires; black, reinforced, padded nylon upholstery; and caregiver-friendly hand brakes, conveniently mounted on the handgrips. There is a limited warranty of three years on frames and crossbraces. Check Graham-Field's website, www.grahamfield.com, for details, and contact your Graham-Field dealer for options.

Everest & Jennings® Transport Chairs have folding seats and back canes for easy storage, as shown at lower right, and are easily transportable by companion or caregiver. All E&J® transport chairs feature IC (Industry Compatible) footrests and black, padded nylon upholstery. Standard transport chairs, with 250 lbs. maximum weight capacity, are available with either steel or aluminum frame construction; aluminum-frame chairs are available in either silver or blue.

Everest & Jennings® wheelchairs have been in continuous production since 1933, when Everest & Jennings invented the first folding wheelchair.
